What Voters Told Us About the 2026 Election

Post-election Survey, October 29 to November 6, 2026

Fielded by

YouGov Blue

Key Findings 1

- 2026 was an unprecedented wave election that combined reinforcing developments that nearly wiped out the Republican Party. The huge swing to Democrats reported in the New York Times was reproduced in this survey and taken further in one astonishing finding after another. Democrats got 90 percent of Blacks and 70 percent of Hispanics, Asians and Jews, but also won white working class women under 50.
- Donald Trump campaigned to the last day and his strong disapproval allowed one in five voters to decide whom to vote for in the last week with many more voters seriously considering Democrats. The campaign was pushing more and more voters to the Democrats who won the House by 13, House battleground districts by 11 and Senate by 9 points.
- Many Republicans stayed home, as only 6 percent of Trump voters defected. This astonishing wave was produced by the 40-point margin with “new voters” in House races and 17 points in the Senate. These were new registrants or those who had not voted in the last elections.
- And it was produced by historically unprecedented margins with independents: 37-point margin in the House and 26 points in the Senate.
- Democrats redeemed a lot from 2024 that elected Trump when Gen Z voted 70 percent for Democrats, both Black men and women gave 90 percent of the vote, and Hispanics showed only a small gender gap. Democrats won union households and white union households in impressive ways in House races. Trump’s hostile actions to Blacks, Hispanics and unions produced a powerful fight back.
- Other than the contrast with Biden on the border, voters thought Republicans gave them no reason to vote for them. The focus on transgender and Muslims made them even more irrelevant.

Key Findings 2

- Democratic candidates got heard on the high prices of groceries, utilities, housing, and gas; the Trump policies that raised prices, like tariffs, the Iran war, and allowing big corporations to raise prices; the health care changes to Medicaid and ACA subsidies; immigration agent overreach and ICE; big tax cuts for billionaires; and Republican corruption that enriched themselves and donors while raising prices for ordinary people. Made in America was heard by defectors and Blacks. Data centers by new voters and dual haters.
- Trump was hurt by his global polarization where voters were positive about Canada and NATO and deeply hostile to tariffs on Canada, lifting sanctions on Russia oil and above all, Putin who Trump embraced.
- Trump was allying with high tech giants at a time when three quarters had negative views of CEOs of major companies.
- Nearly all Democratic Senate candidates reflected their states and were viewed more favorably than the Democratic Party. The Democratic candidates, however, allied with Sanders and the Democratic socialists, did not have a similar swing. They ran behind the congressional candidates in their states. An intense majority has an intense unfavorable view of Democratic socialists. Democrats had a small majority in the South.
- The Democratic Party has improved grades on key values, though still gets more Fs than As. It has done well on "working for the right kind of change" but it is only at parity on "listening to you, not the elites."
- What may be surprising is that voters want Democrats to boldly fight inequality tolerated by both parties, but also, get to mainstream position on some issues and focus more on kitchen table issues, rather than cultural issues.
- Democratic voters wish their party were focusing on issues that mattered to working class voters, like building American manufacturing & modernizing infrastructure and transport, stop taking big contributions from the richest that give them influence, and stop allowing America to become the most unequal and big tech and top 1% to call the shots.

Key Findings 3

- But they want Democrats to say, “there are two sexes determined at birth. Gender is not an identity” and to focus on kitchen table, rather than cultural issues. That concern was greatest with Trump defectors, Hispanics and all white working class voters.
- In the short term, voters want Democrats to tax billionaires and high tech companies, act against monopolies driving up prices, restore ACA subsidies and lower premiums, and pass an ethics law for the Supreme Court and stop stock trading. Interestingly, defectors and new voters add the Iran war, tariffs and the restoration of the monthly Child Tax Credit.
- Most groups sympathize with both Israel and the Palestinians, though Jewish voters side with Israel. However, over half of liberal Democrats choose Palestinians. Saying “genocide” gets positive response from Democratic voters, Gen Z, independents, and new voters.
- Tariffs have been spoiled by Trump. Two thirds view tariffs and “Trump tariffs” equally negatively. But many more blame corporate gouging and monopolies than tariffs. A message test on tariffs that did not mention reducing current tariffs, got equal positive and negative responses.
- Voters want bold changes. Two thirds want the higher monthly Child Tax Credit, new trade deals that work for workers, limit monopolies to lower costs, tax billionaires and reduce economic inequality. A very strong message attacks the current CTC that gives same benefit to those earning $400,000 and restores the benefit to poor, working and middle class families; standing with unions and better union contracts, not billionaires; and not providing further military aid to Israel and conditioning it.
- The survey provides critical intelligence on this astonishing election and how Democrats become a hegemonic party.

Sample methodology

Survey	Democracy Corps post-election survey, fielded online by YouGov Blue among registered voters who voted in the 2026 general election.
Base sample	1,339 voters, October 29 to November 6, 2026. Margin of error ±3.2 percent.
Oversamples	Fielded October 28 to November 6, 2026: Black voters, n=566 (±4.6) | Hispanic voters, n=564 (±5.5) | Asian American voters, n=397 (±6.0) | Jewish voters, n=523 (±5.0). Democratic primary voters, n=672 (about ±4.5); Jewish Democratic primary voters, n=380 (about ±6.0). Margins for these two groups are estimated by scaling from the samples above and are approximate.
Weighting	The data are statistically weighted so that each sample reflects the composition of 2026 voters, including their 2024 presidential vote and, for the base sample, their 2026 House vote.
Reading the charts	Charts show the base sample unless a slide says otherwise. Margins of error are larger for subgroups, for example about ±7 for union households (n=259). Battleground states and House districts are flagged from the lists shared with YouGov.

The 2026 Election Results

11 charts

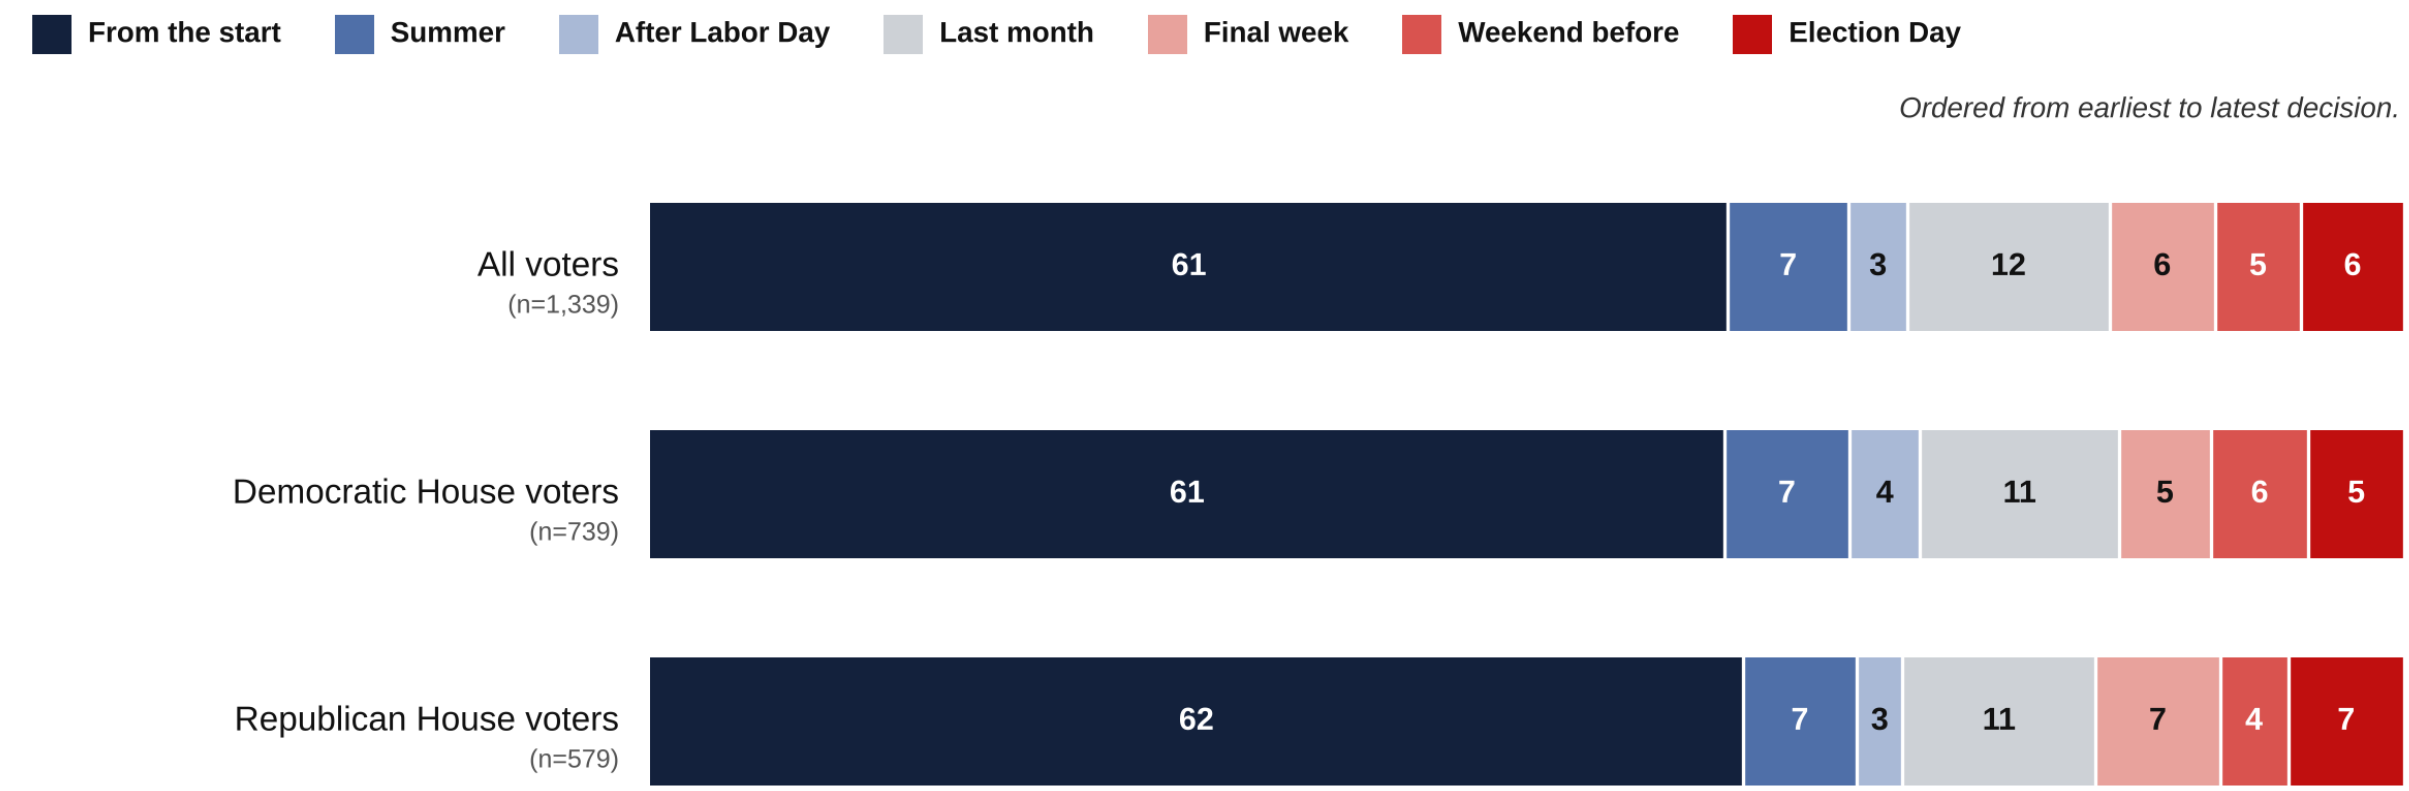

Democrats won the House vote by 13 points, and by 11 in House battlegrounds; they won the Senate vote by 9 points

Percent of those who voted in each race.

Democracy Corps post-election survey, November 2026, YouGov Blue. Base sample, weighted. Remaining share voted for another candidate or did not vote in that race. House battlegrounds = battleground states and congressional districts.

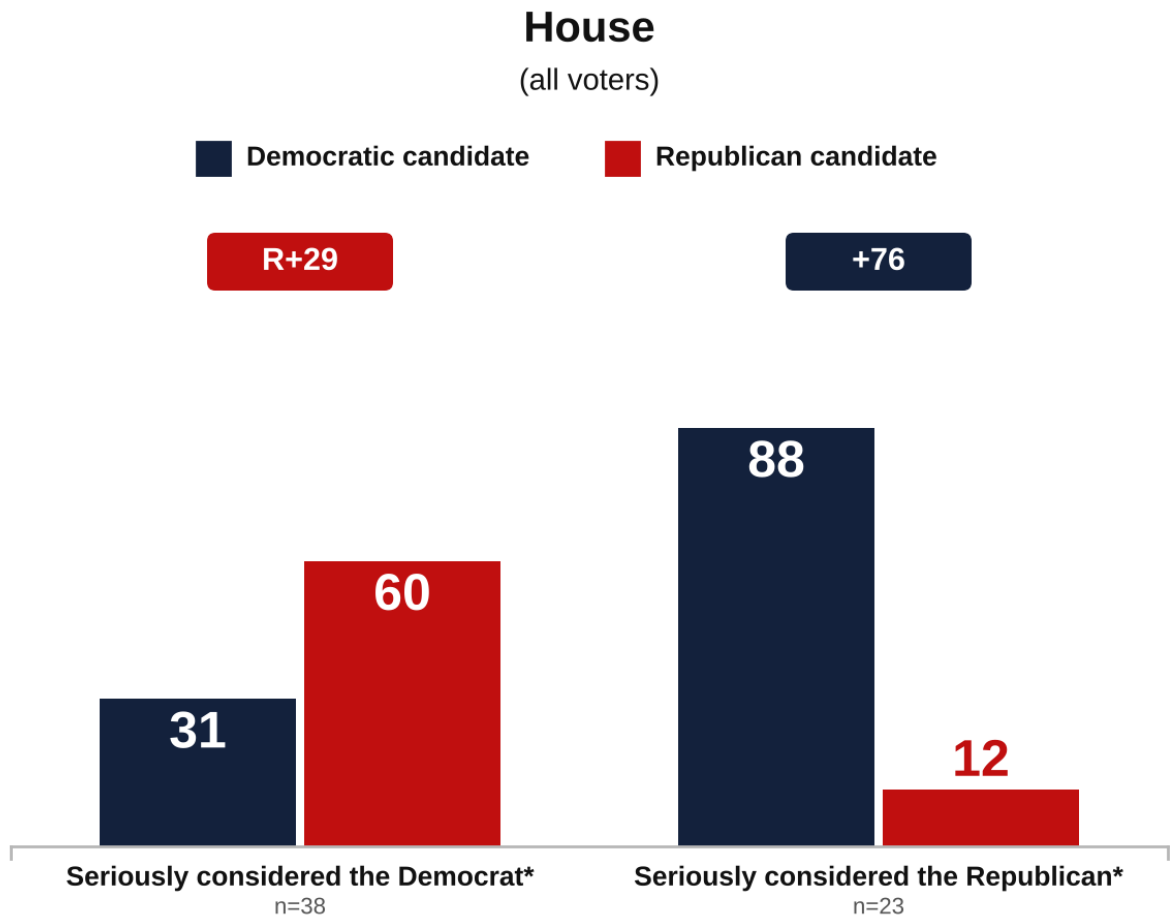

Almost one in five decided whom to vote for in the last week

Democracy Corps post-election survey, November 2026, YouGov Blue. Base sample, weighted.

And among those who were open to changing their vote, a further third said they were “seriously considering” the Democrat, while few Democrats were considering a Republican

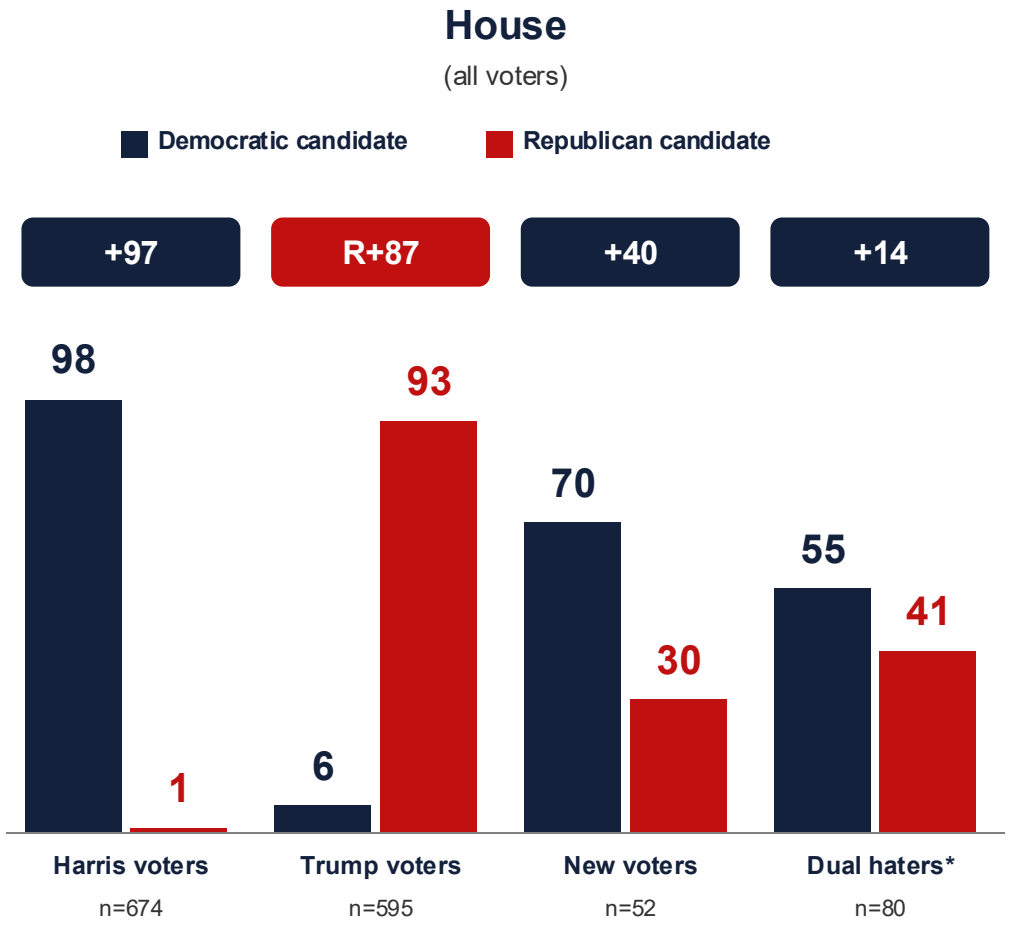

Percent of those who seriously considered each party, by House vote.

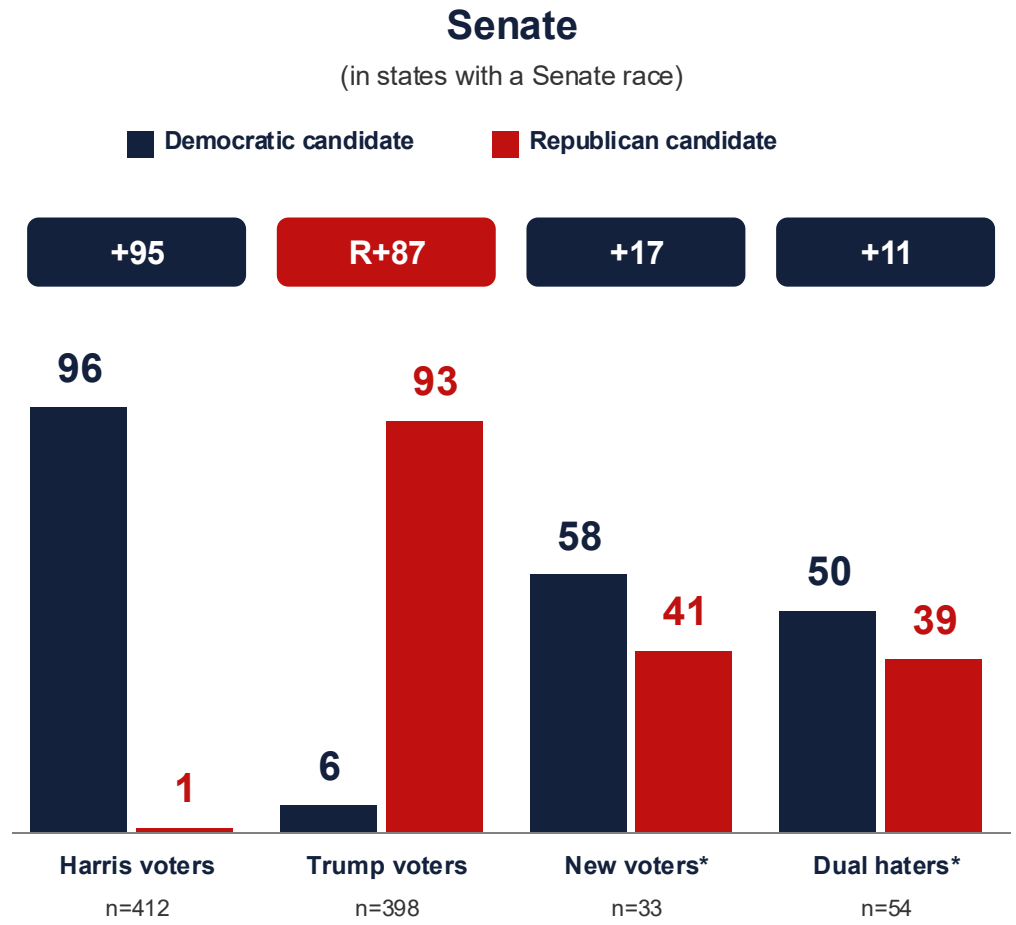

Democracy Corps post-election survey, November 2026, YouGov Blue. Base sample, weighted. Remaining share voted for another candidate or did not vote in that race. Groups from consider_dem2 / consider_rep2, asked after the House vote. Very small bases. *Small base (n<50); interpret with caution.

Harris vote was completely consolidated, while Democrats got 6 percent of Trump voters but, much more important, won “new voters” by 40 points in the House and 17 points in the Senate and won a majority of dual haters

Percent of those who voted in each race.

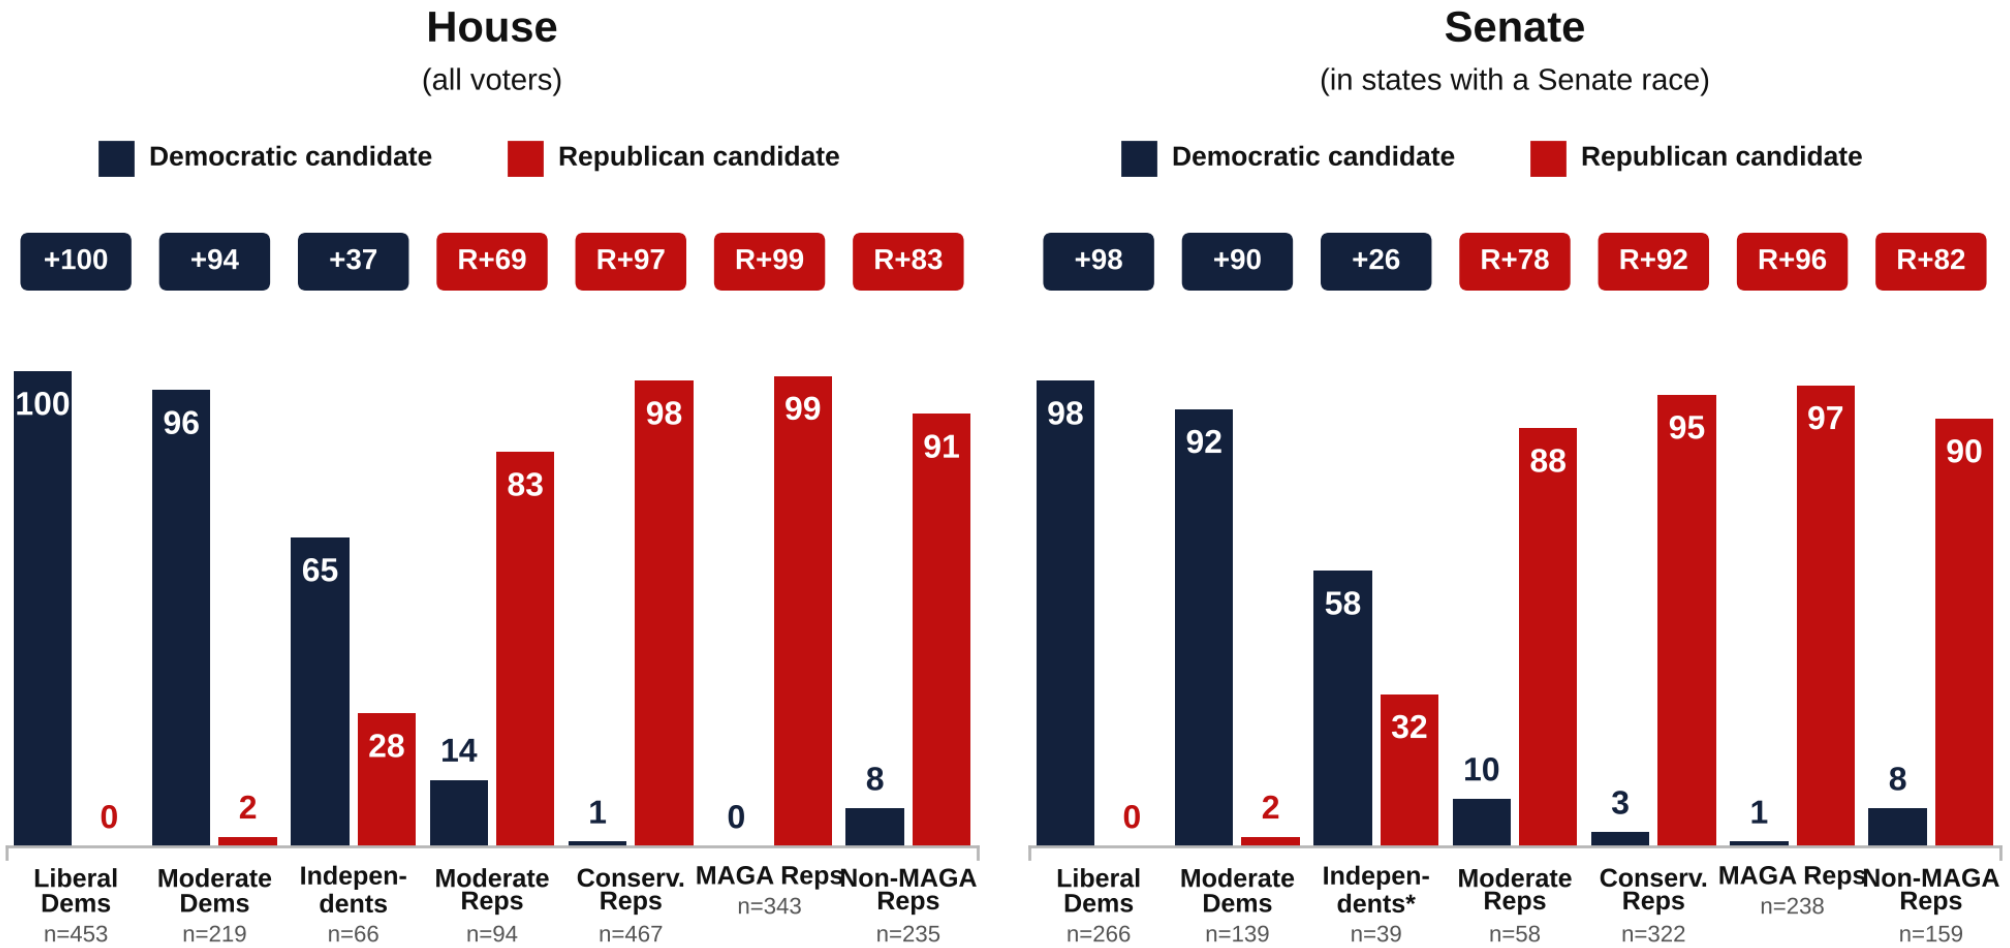

Democracy Corps post-election survey, November 2026, YouGov Blue. Base sample, weighted. Remaining share voted for another candidate or did not vote in that race. Groups are 2024 presidential vote; new voters did not vote in 2024. Third-party voters not shown (too few). *Small base; interpret with caution. Dual haters as defined in the crosstabs (the deck's grids use n=77).

And then, Democrats won independents by 37 points in the House and 26 points in the Senate. They got only 8 percent of non-MAGA Republicans who ended up voting. Others must have stayed home.

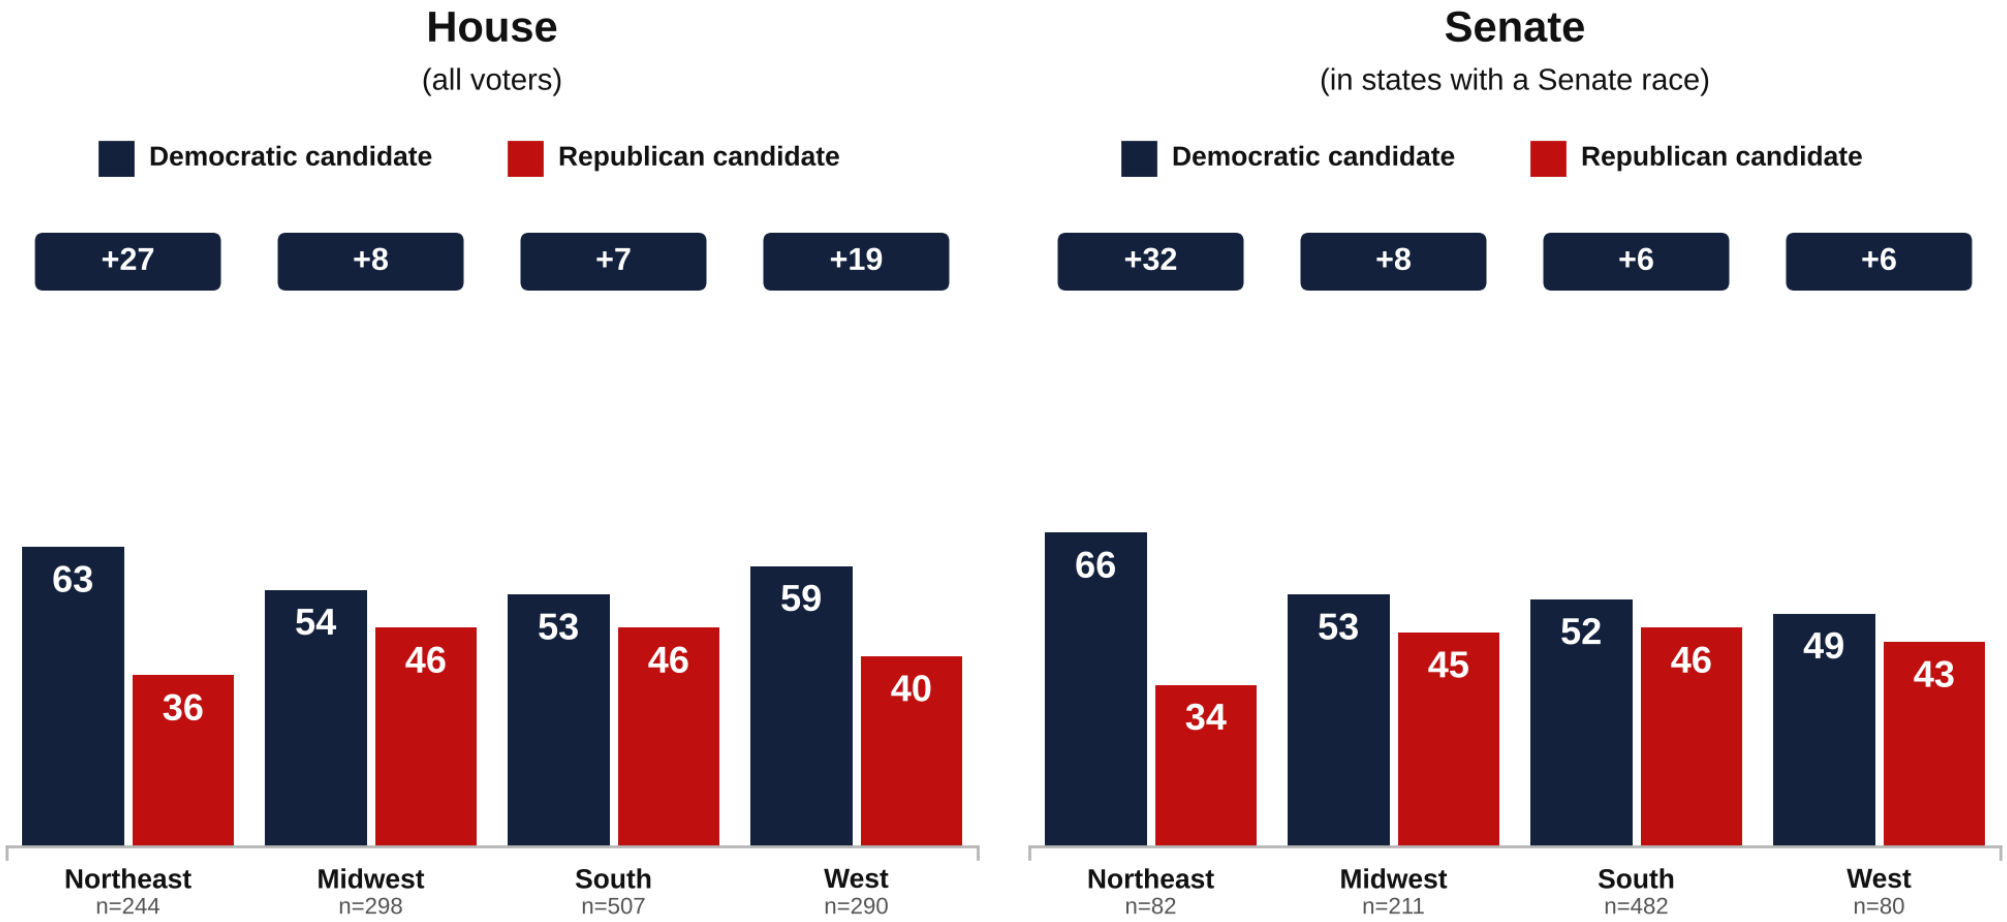

Percent of those who voted in each race.

Democracy Corps post-election survey, November 2026, YouGov Blue. Base sample, weighted. Remaining share voted for another candidate or did not vote in that race. Party-ideology from pid_ideo; independents from pid7_with_leaners; MAGA from magarepublican (asked of Republicans). *Small base (n<50); interpret with caution.

Democrats' biggest margins were in the Northeast and West, but they were winning just over half in the South, the biggest region

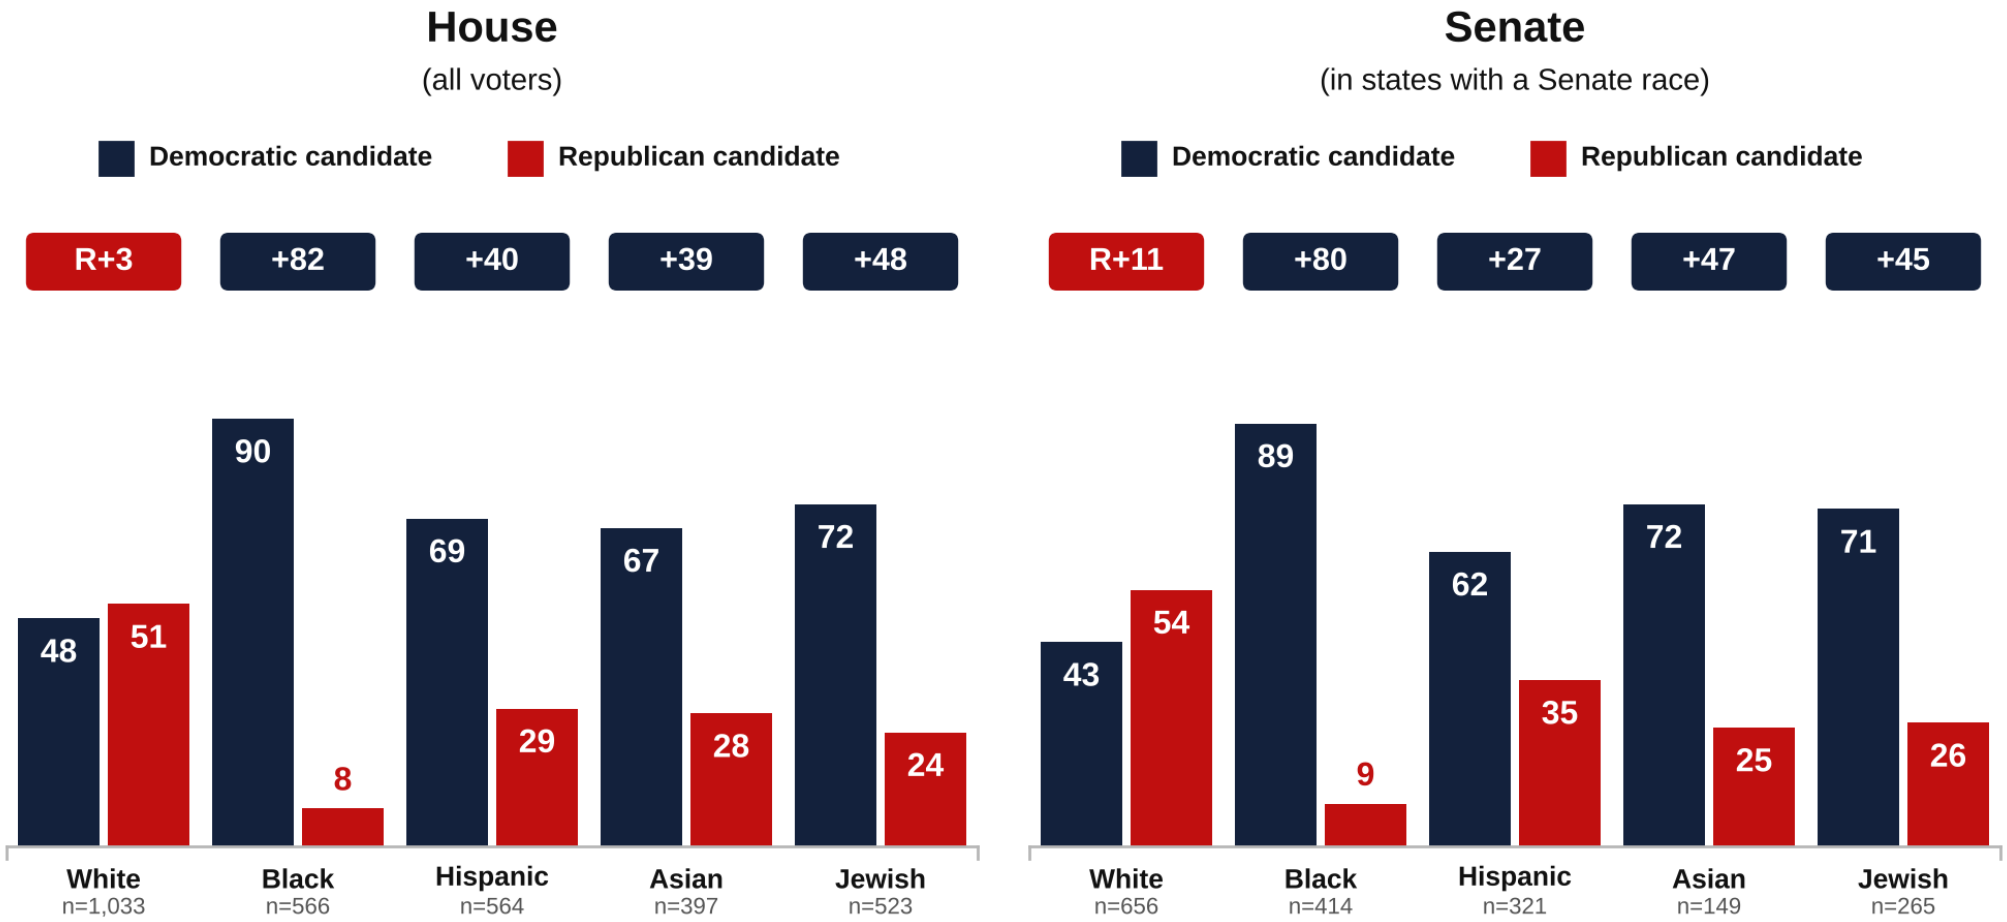

Percent of those who voted in each race.

Democracy Corps post-election survey, November 2026, YouGov Blue. Base sample, weighted. Remaining share voted for another candidate or did not vote in that race. Region is where the respondent is registered to vote (Census regions).

Democrats broke even with white voters and had unprecedented support from their diverse base: 90% with Blacks and 70% with Hispanic, Asian and Jewish voters

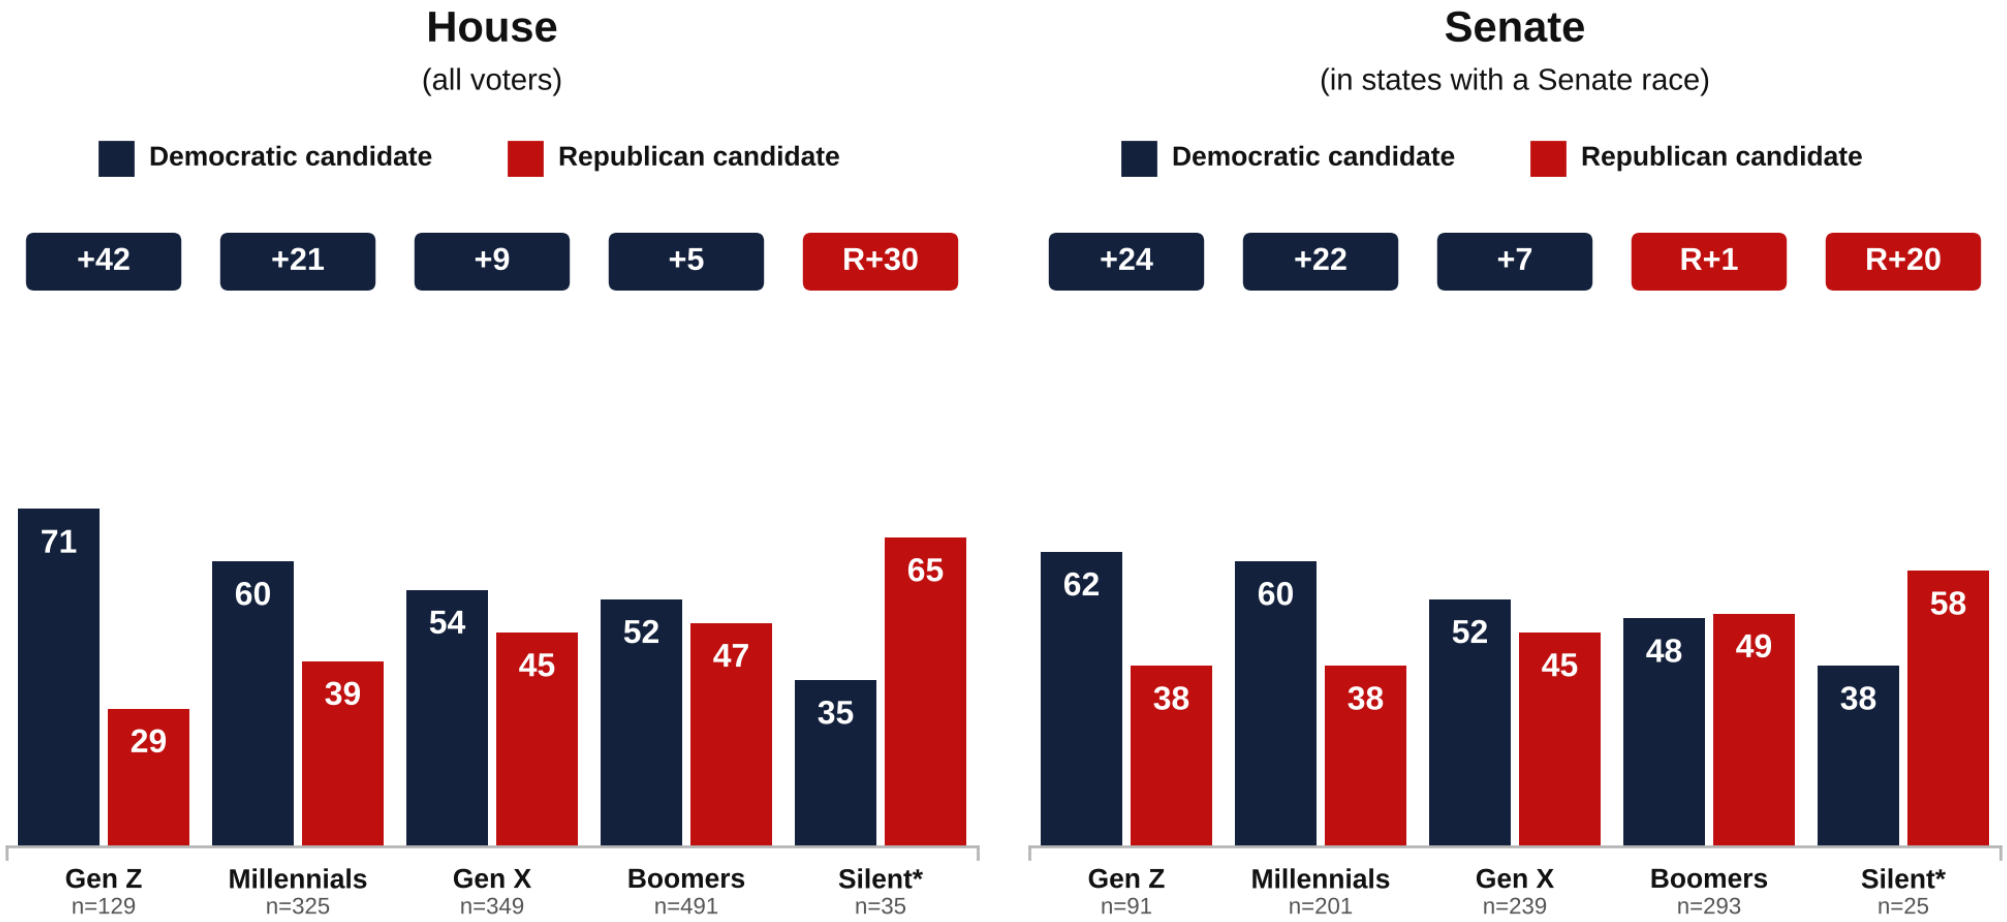

Percent of those who voted in each race.

Changes voters want Democratic leaders to acknowledge:

"Many leaders are talking about the need for the Democratic Party to change. Which FOUR of these statements that some have made, would you like to see Democratic leaders acknowledge?"

		% choosing
1.	That focuses on building American manufacturing and modernizing its infrastructure and transport	38
2.	That there are two sexes, determined at birth. Gender is not an identity.	36
3.	That big contributions from the richest to both parties give them enormous influence in Washington	34
4.	That focuses on kitchen table issues instead of cultural issues	33
5.	That accepts the strong public belief that it isn't fair for boys to participate with girls in school sports	31
6.	That both the Democrats and Republicans let America became the most unequal and allow big tech and top 1 percent call the shots	30
7.	That Joe Biden lost control of the border, and immigration reform starts with enforcement first at the border and more immigration judges	30
8.	That criticizes leaders who supported defunding the police and backs local leaders who got control of crime and homelessness in cities	30
9.	That sides with unions so workers have more say than the big companies	26
10.	That the party is not dominated by the Democratic socialist Bernie Sanders wing	25
11.	That many candidates are moderate and work with Republicans	23

Highlighting key role of CTC, but critiquing current version, sets up strongest positive response, especially with Trump defectors, Democratic primary voters, white working class women under 50 and Blacks

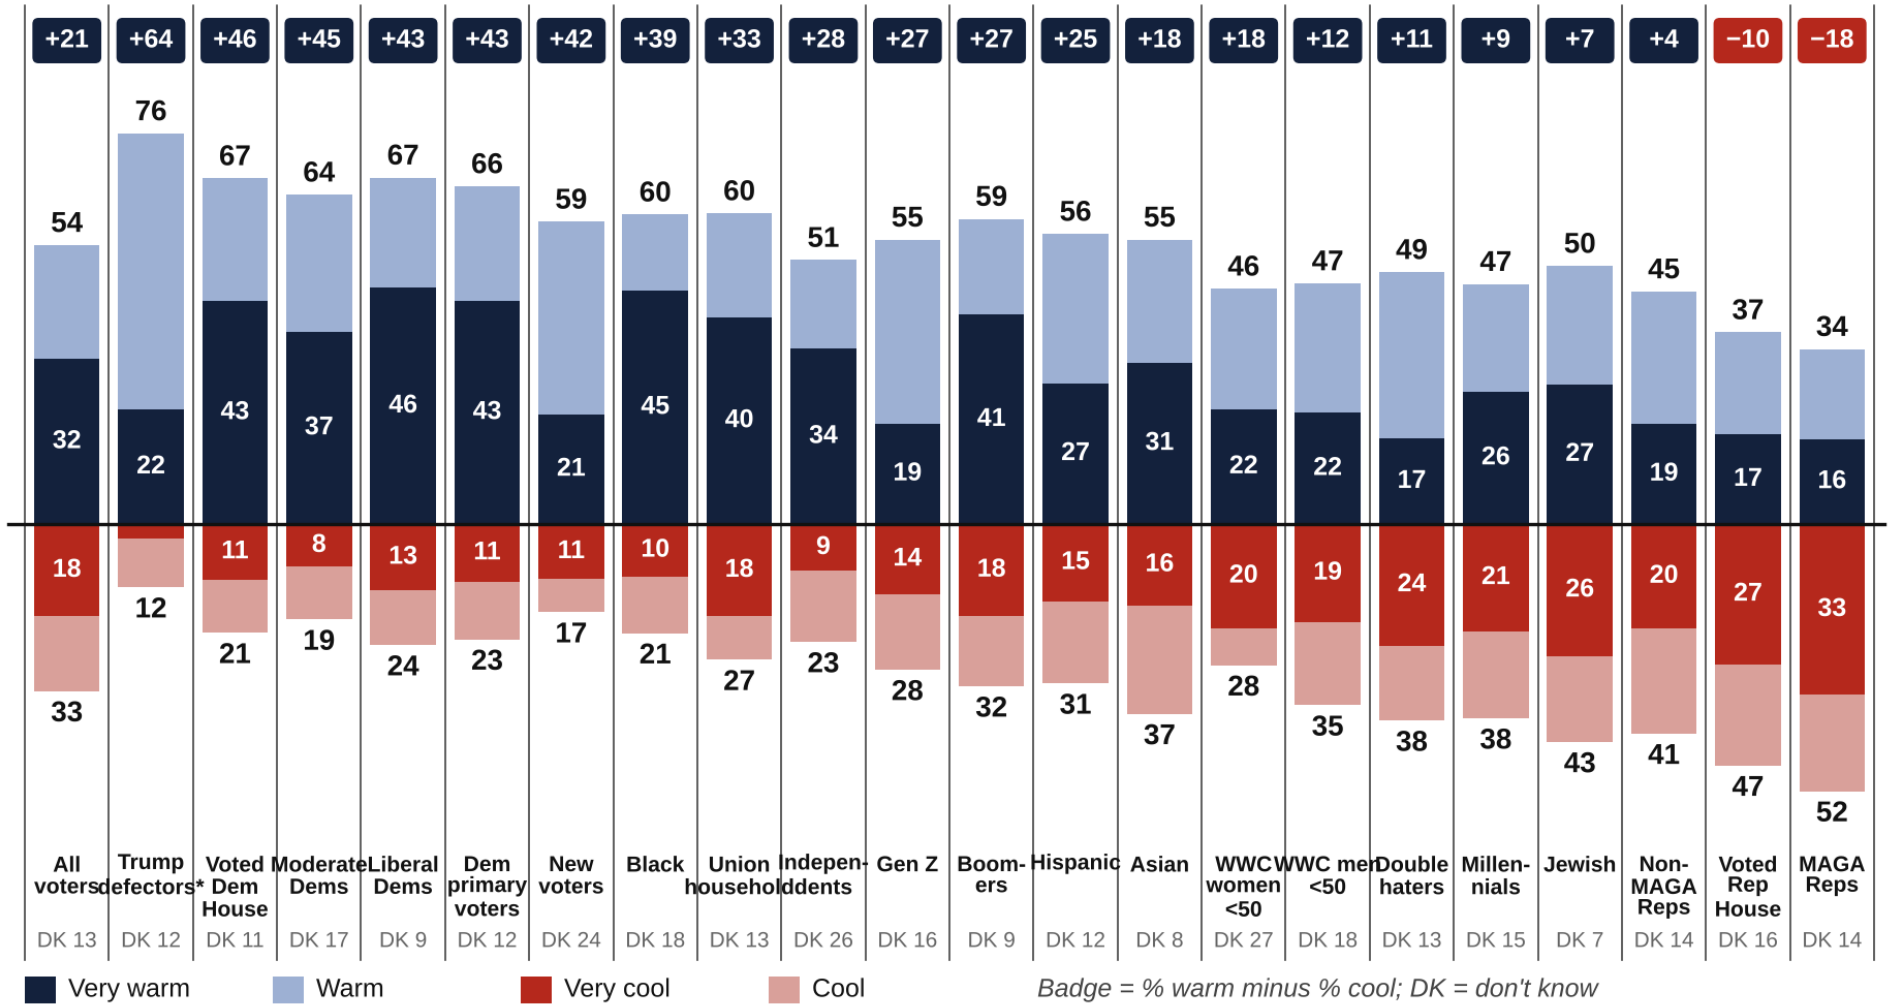

"The Child Tax Credit is the single largest expenditure on children in our country, and yet in President Trump's current law, it provides a larger benefit to families who earn $400,000 and only arrives once a year. We should bring back the expanded Child Tax Credit from 2021, that provided the same increased credit to poor, working, and middle class families. I will pass the American Family Act that will provide a monthly payment to families of $370 for every child under the age of 6 and $310 for every older child, and a $2500 payment for new babies so families can afford diapers, cribs, carseats, and the rising cost of living."

Leader opposing further military aid to Israel gets a strong positive response, especially from Democratic voters, defectors and new voters

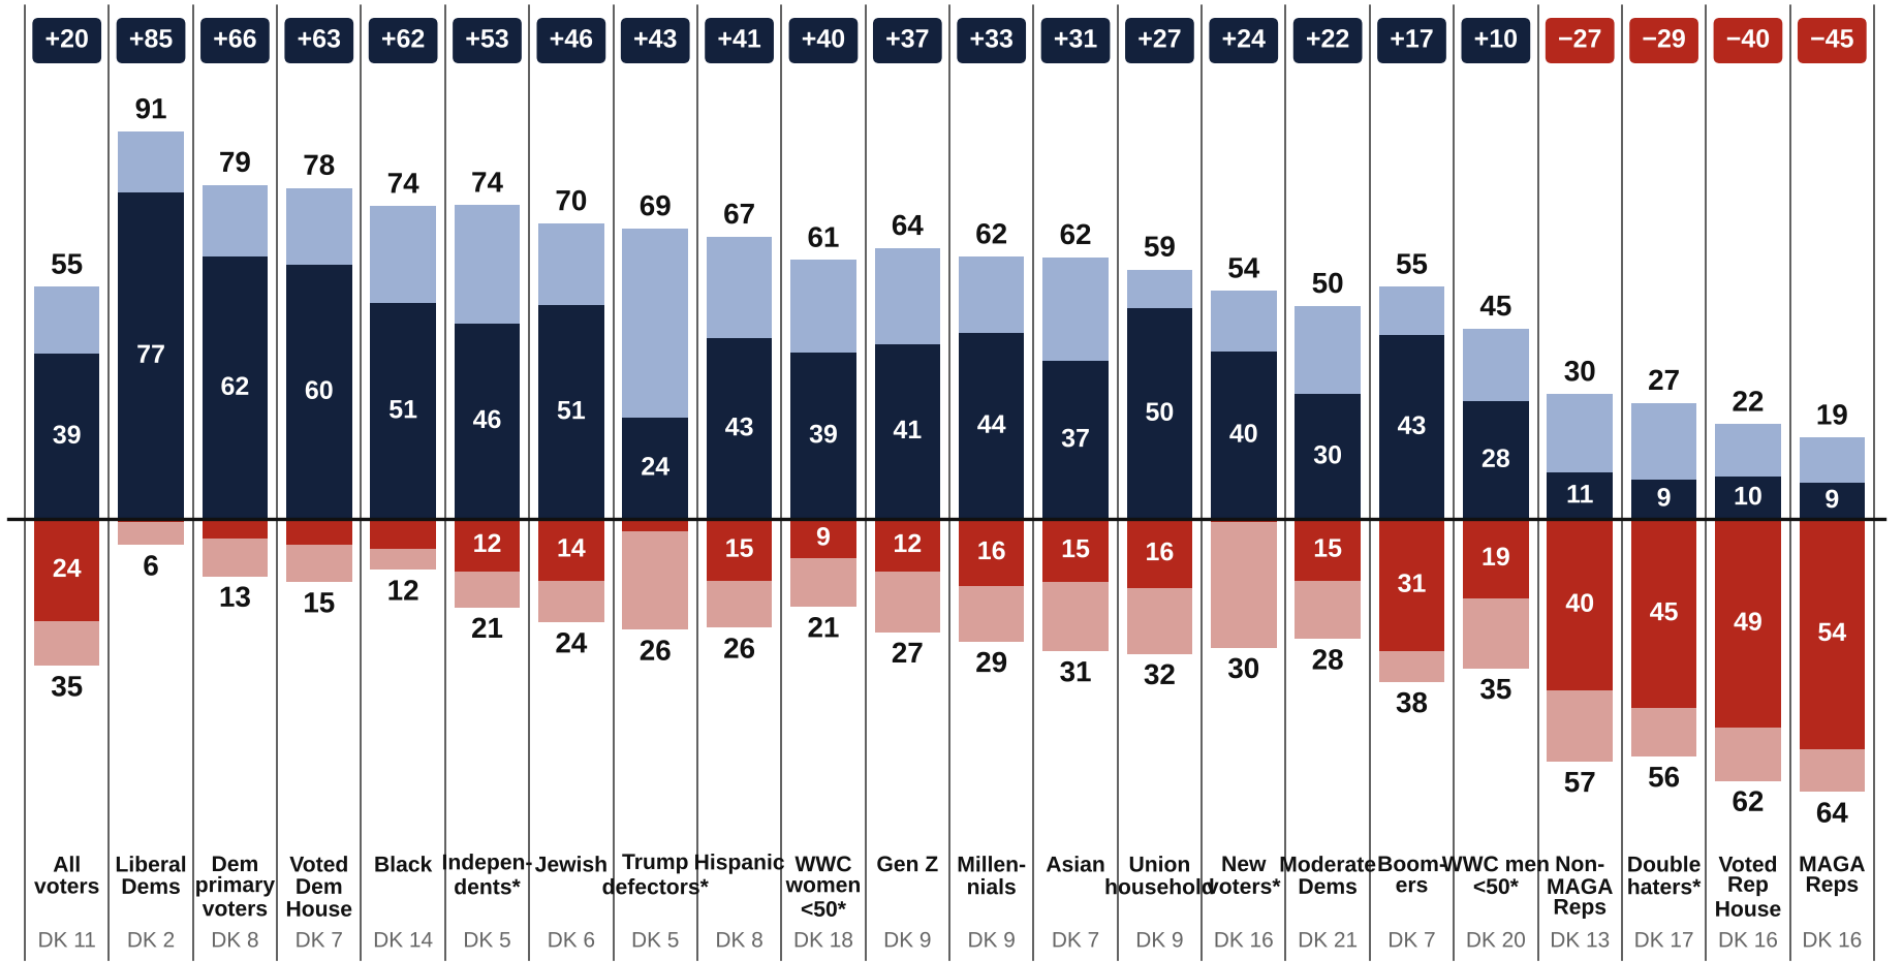

"Israel is a democracy and an important ally, and I am committed to its security. But Israel is a wealthy country that is more than capable of paying for its own defense, just as America's other wealthy allies do, and American taxpayers should not be giving it billions of dollars every year in unconditional military subsidies. We should honor our existing commitments until the current agreement ends in two years. After that, we should move to a responsible but rapid phase-out. Israel will pay for what it needs, including air defense systems like Iron Dome, through arms sales governed by American law, and Congress will keep its power to review and, when necessary, block sales that do not align with our laws."

Standing with unions and better union contracts, not billionaires, gets a very positive response from Democrats, Blacks, Hispanics, independents, Trump defectors and white working class women under 50

"Unions built the middle class, and union contracts raise pay for every worker. A union member earns about $230 more a week than a worker without a union. I will pass the PRO Act to make it easier to form a union and bargain, and raise the minimum wage to $17 an hour. Unions get government to act on worker safety, overtime, and stolen pay. And I will stand with workers, not billionaires, so that good union jobs stay in America and the people who do the work share in the wealth they create."

Tariff message gets a divided response

"Tariffs are an important tool to help counteract abuses of workers and the environment in other countries and other kinds of trade cheating so as to rebuild American manufacturing and our country's resilience. But President Trump's corrupt tariffs enrich his biggest donors. Money and gifts got exemptions for certain companies and countries. We welcome new tariffs where unions and domestic producers support the action, such as with Steel and Autos. Congress should enact tariffs that are good for America."
