More out of touch and more vulnerable: The Republican House Battleground

December 9, 2011

Methodology and Overview

This presentation is based on a unique survey of 1000 likely 2012 voters in 60 Republican battleground districts conducted by Greenberg Quinlan Rosner Research for Democracy Corps and Women's Voices. Women Vote Action Fund December 4-7, 2011. Unless otherwise noted, margin of error=+/- 3.1% at 95% confidence.

Note: The time series data represents the common 50 districts originally selected in March. All other data represents the full 60 districts tested in September and December.

The Republican-Obama Districts

- The 2012 Democracy Corps Congressional battleground research focuses intensely on the Republican-Obama districts; 48 of our 60 districts were won by Barack Obama in 2008 but claimed by Republicans in the 2010 midterm.
- Our battleground also includes 12 of the most competitive districts falling outside the Republican-Obama definition. This hybrid model, which includes the 60 most crucial battleground districts, allows Democracy Corps to track public opinion in ways that will define, shape, and structure the public debate going into 2012.
- Redistricting will obviously affect some of these districts, but this study is meant as an instructive look at the current districts, and voters, who have swung between the parties over the past four years, in addition to gauging public opinion on these specific Republican incumbents themselves.
- The districts are divided into 2 tiers. Tier 1 includes the 30 most competitive districts; Tier 2 is composed of 30 secondary targets.
- 50 of the 60 districts in this survey were included in our March battleground survey, giving us the unique ability to track changes in public mood and opinion over time in these crucial swing districts.

Republican incumbents deeply out of touch on big budget debates

Voters in these Republican districts blame Republicans for Super-Committee failure

As you may know, a bipartisan Congressional supercommittee was established in August to come up with a plan to reduce the federal budget deficit by 1.5 trillion dollars over the next ten years, but they just announced they could not reach an agreement. In your opinion, who do you think is mainly at fault for not reaching an agreement, the Democrats in Congress or the Republicans in Congress?

Out of touch: 60% want member to cooperate with Obama, not try to stop his agenda

Now I'm going to read you some pairs of statements. After I read each pair, please tell me whether the FIRST statement or the SECOND statement comes closer to your own view, even if neither is exactly right.

STATEMENT 1: I want (HOUSE INCUMBENT) to try and work with President Obama to address our country's problems.

STATEMENT 2: I want (HOUSE INCUMBENT) to try to stop President Obama from advancing his agenda for the country.

Out of touch on taxes: almost 60% want member to vote higher taxes on wealthiest

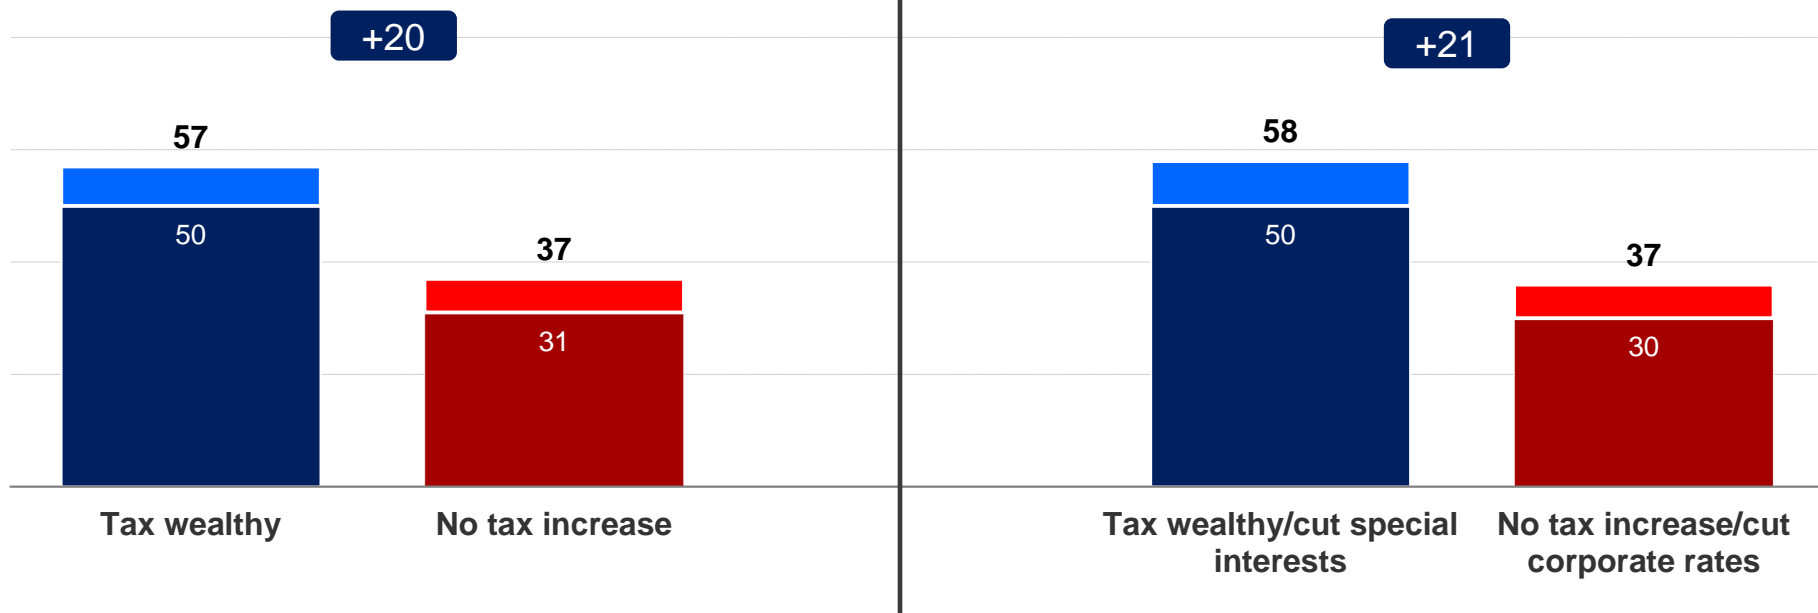

Now I'm going to read you some pairs of statements. After I read each pair, please tell me whether the FIRST statement or the SECOND statement comes closer to your own view, even if neither is exactly right.

STATEMENT 1: I want to vote for a Member of Congress who will ask the wealthiest to pay a greater share of taxes to address our problems and the deficit.

STATEMENT 2: I agree with (HOUSE INCUMBENT) who says (HE/SHE) won't vote for any tax increase.

STATEMENT 1: I want to vote for a Member of Congress who will ask the wealthiest to pay a greater share of taxes and cut special interest spending to address our problems and the deficit.

STATEMENT 2: I agree with (HOUSE INCUMBENT) who says (HE/SHE) won't vote for any tax increase and wants to reform and cut corporate tax rates.

Out of touch on deficits and Bush tax cuts: raise taxes on wealthiest and protect entitlements

Now I'm going to read you some pairs of statements. After I read each pair, please tell me whether the FIRST statement or the SECOND statement comes closer to your own view, even if neither is exactly right.

STATEMENT 1: In dealing with the deficit, I agree more with the Democrats who want to raise taxes on the wealthiest and end corporate subsidies, and oppose cuts in Social Security and Medicare.

STATEMENT 2: In dealing with the deficit, I agree more with the Republicans who oppose any increase in taxes and want to reduce spending on Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid by making overdue reforms.

STATEMENT 1: The Bush tax cuts for those earning over 250,000 dollars should be ended, while maintaining the tax cuts for the middle class.

STATEMENT 2: The Bush tax cuts should be extended permanently so we raise nobody's taxes.

Obama and Democrats gain in battleground, while Republicans tarnished

Democrats' image improved since September...

You can use any number from zero to one hundred, the higher the number the more favorable your feelings are toward that person or organization. If you have no opinion or never heard of that person or organization, please say so.

Obama much more favorable than Romney and Gingrich in these Republican districts

Attack on cuts to Medicare to pay for more special interest tax breaks powerful, but Social Security attack is strongest driver in regressions

Now let me read you some statements that some people have made about (HOUSE INCUMBENT). After I read each statement, please tell me whether this raises very serious doubts, serious doubts, minor doubts, or no real doubts in your own mind about (HOUSE INCUMBENT).

■ Very serious doubts ■ Serious doubts

(MEDICARE CONTRAST) (HOUSE INCUMBENT) voted to end Medicare as we know it, forcing seniors to pay 6,400 dollars more out of pocket every year, and to use that money to continue tax breaks for those earning over 200,000 dollars and special interest subsidies for oil companies.

(SOCIAL SECURITY) (HOUSE INCUMBENT) voted to privatize Social Security, raise the retirement age and reduce guaranteed health care benefits for seniors.

(REFORM) (HOUSE INCUMBENT) promised to change Washington but (he/she) has taken thousands from lobbyists at Washington fundraisers, while voting three times to protect 50 billion dollars in taxpayer-funded subsidies for the oil companies and refusing to block bonuses to Wall Street CEOs.

(UPSIDE DOWN) The economy is upside down. Gas prices, bills, and tuition go up but wages and benefits remain stagnant for the smashed middle class. Ninety-nine percent of us are suffering, but (HOUSE INCUMBENT) cares more about keeping tax breaks for the top one percent than helping out the struggling middle class.

Attacking Republicans' budget plan to cut taxes for the wealthiest and corporations drives the vote against them

Now let me read you some statements that some people have made about (HOUSE INCUMBENT). After I read each statement, please tell me whether this raises very serious doubts, serious doubts, minor doubts, or no real doubts in your own mind about (HOUSE INCUMBENT).

■ Very serious doubts ■ Serious doubts

(DEBT) (HOUSE INCUMBENT) says (he/she) wants to reduce our country's debt, but (he/she) voted for a budget plan that cuts taxes for the wealthiest and corporations and adds 8 trillion dollars to the national debt over the next 10 years.

(PAYROLL TAX) (HOUSE INCUMBENT) opposed extending the payroll tax cut of almost fifteen hundred dollars for 160 million working families and businesses because (he/she) did not want to raise taxes on millionaires by 3 percent to pay for these middle class tax cuts.

(OBSTRUCTIONISM) (HOUSE INCUMBENT) promised to change Washington but instead threatened to have America default its debts, producing gridlock that led to a credit downgrade of America that hurt our economy. (He/she) supports leaders who say their number one goal is to make President Obama a one-term president.

Taxes, regulations attacks on Democrats fall flat

Now let me read you some statements that some people have made about Democrats in Congress. After I read each statement, please tell me whether this raises very serious doubts, serious doubts, minor doubts, or no real doubts in your own mind about Democrats in Congress.

■ Very serious doubts ■ Serious doubts

(SOLYNDRA) The Democrats in Congress gave half a billion taxpayer dollars to a solar power company that donated to the Obama campaign, even though the company was on a path to bankruptcy. After the company eventually defaulted on its loan, the Democrats changed the terms to let the company continue taking taxpayer money. Now the company is bankrupt and taxpayers are stuck with the bill, but the Democrats approved another billion dollars in loans to similar companies who also donated to Democrats.

(OBAMA HEALTH CARE) The Democrats in Congress supported Barack Obama's trillion dollar government takeover of our health care system, which raised the cost of health insurance premiums, increased taxes, and forced small businesses to pay for expensive insurance they can't afford, all while making it harder for people to see their doctors and get access to quality care.

(SPENDING) The Democrats in Congress passed a stimulus bill that added hundreds of billions to the debt, yet failed to create any jobs. They continue to support tax-and-spend policies that will burden middle class families with more debt, and cost our children their economic future.

(ANTI-BUSINESS) In a weak economy, Democrats in Congress support an anti-business, job killing agenda. They support Obamacare, which is filled with new red tape and mandates on businesses, and a new energy tax and environmental regulations that would drive up costs for manufacturers.

(TAXES) The Democrats' deficit reduction plan actually raises taxes on job creators. It increases the already high corporate tax rate, raises the top individual tax rate, and is sure to create a stranglehold on the economy. We can debate about how to fix the deficit, but raising taxes during a recession is not the right place to start.

Big shift in the vote after hearing attacks from both sides – incumbent falls to only 44 percent
